Subject: Truth in Lending

Dear Sir or Madame,

Thanks for taking the issue of credit cards on in full. For years these people have financially feasted upon society's most vulnerable consumers, and profited beyond handsomely in the process. The tactics they use to confuse and use the system are shameful. Their ability to hide behind layers of phone banks is a drag on commerce.

Sure these are great businesses; but at what cost to our nation? The small print should be reasonable, and not a dark tool to help maximize revenues of the mighty – at the expense of the consumer.

Shame on these parasites...
